

Michael J. Cima is Associate Dean of Engineering and Professor with tenure, Department of Materials Science and Engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is an Investigator at the Koch Institute for Integrative Cancer Research and was elected to the National Academy of Inventors in 2016. He was elected to the National Academy of Engineering in 2011 and was appointed the David H. Koch Professor of Engineering the same year. Prof. Cima is author or co-author of over two hundred and fifty peer reviewed scientific publications, fifty US patents, and is a recognized expert in the field of medical devices and materials processing. He is a coinventor of MIT's three-dimensional printing process. Machines and products by many licensees using this process are used throughout the world.