

COVID-19 Health and Safety:

District of Columbia and The Madison Hotel:

Currently there are no COVID-19 mandates in place in the District of Columbia. The American Ceramic Society strongly recommends individuals, despite vaccination status, wear a mask throughout the National Day of Glass conference when not actively consuming food and beverage items.

National Academy of Sciences COVID-19 Mandates:

The National Academy of Sciences will require each individual participating in the National Day of Glass reception taking place on 4/5/22 from 6 – 8:30 p.m. to show proof of ID and proof of vaccination upon arrival to the National Academy of Sciences building before entering the reception. Individuals who have received a booster do not have to wear a mask. Individuals who are not boosted must wear a mask unless actively consuming food and beverage items. The American Ceramic Society strongly recommends individuals, despite vaccination status, wear a mask throughout the National Day of Glass conference when not actively consuming food and beverage items.
