

International Congress on Ceramics (ICC)

The International Ceramic Federation (ICF) organizes the International Congress on Ceramics (ICC) every two years. The ICC is hosted by a Member Society, on approval of a proposal to the Council of ICF.

Operating Procedures:

- The President of ICF invites members of ICF to submit a proposal to host ICC at least 6 years prior to the biennial ICC, and 6 weeks before that date to be reviewed by the Executive Committee.
- The applicant organization submits the ICC proposal form (below) to the ICF President
- The applicant organization must state that it accepts full financial responsibility.
- The Executive Committee reviews applications for completeness prior to the ICF Council vote.
- The ICC host shall be selected by a majority vote of those full member organizations in attendance at the ICF Council meeting. A decision in favor of a prospective ICC is made 6 years prior to the event.

Sponsoring Society submits letter signed by current President accepting financial responsibility for hosting the ICC meeting plus the form properly filled out. Note: The meeting should not be a conventional technical research program but should include sessions that address (1) a global assessment of the ceramic business and (2) include the Technical Working Committees of ICF.
