INTRODUCTION

Introduction text. This is an example introduction. The ITCC and the ITES are premier international meetings on the thermophysical properties of materials. They bring together researchers, engineers, and industry professionals from around the world to exchange knowledge on thermal conductivity, diffusivity, expansion, and related phenomena. First held in Columbus, OH, in 1961, these conferences have been hosted by distinguished institutions including Oak Ridge National Lab, Sandia National Lab, Ames Lab, NIST, Purdue University, Arizona State University, University of Michigan, and many others. In 2026, ITCC/ITES proudly return home to Columbus, co-hosted by the Edward Orton Jr. Ceramic Foundation & Hot Disk AB.
